

Join

SLA/CUA

The Catholic University of America Student Chapter of the Special Libraries Association

for

The Peter Drucker Perspective on Information, Knowledge and Business

WHEN:
Thursday April 9,
2015. 6 PM

Where:
The Catholic University of America
Columbus School of Law Room 205

What to bring:
Yourself and a friend

Questions :
Please contact
slacua@gmail.com

Bruce Rosenstein, Managing Editor, Leader to Leader; author, Create Your Future the Peter Drucker Way and Living in More Than One World: How Peter Drucker's Wisdom Can Inspire and Transform Your Life; adjunct professor The Catholic University of American Department of Library and Information Science

Pizza will be provided to those who attend.

Books by Peter Drucker (1909-2005), the “father of modern management,” have been a beacon for business people for more than 70 years. Yet he also coined the term “knowledge worker” in the late 1950s and wrote perceptively about information and knowledge.

Join CUA LIS adjunct Bruce Rosenstein, who interviewed Drucker extensively and is the author of Create Your Future the Peter Drucker Way and Living in More Than One World: How Peter Drucker's Wisdom Can Inspire and Transform Your Life, for an exploration of how Drucker’s writing on business intersects with his work on information and knowledge, and its relevance for today and the future.