The Current Challenge:

- Handling complex functions of electronic resources management at a large distance education university with a small number of library staff.
- Streamlining detailed processes and developing efficiencies.
- Managing knowledge to enable cross-functionality between staff members in the library and other units.

The Next Step:

- Undergoing an extensive review of our workflow.
- Developing an in-house electronic resource management (ERM) system to organize a diverse set of resources and tools. Prototype, using Springshare:
